

Colonel John Hall

Colonel Hall was commissioned as an Aviation officer upon graduation from the United States Military Academy in 1995. His operational assignments include Platoon Leader in B Company, 4-58th Aviation Regiment, Camp Page, Korea; Platoon Leader in B Company, 5-101st Aviation Regiment, Fort Campbell, KY; Commander of D Company, 2-227th Aviation Regiment, and S-3 of 615th Aviation Support Battalion, Fort Hood, TX.

Colonel Hall's acquisition assignments include Test Officer, United States Army Operational Test Command; Assistant Product Manager Hostile Fire Detection Systems, Project Management Office Aircraft Survivability Equipment; Department of the Army Systems Coordinator for the Ground Combat Vehicle, Assistant Secretary of the Army (Acquisition, Logistic, and Technology); and Product Manager Allied Tactical Vehicles, Project Management Office Transportation Systems.

Colonel Hall holds a B.S. degree in Civil Engineering, United States Military Academy and an M.B.A. from Tarleton State University. He is Defense Acquisition University Level III-certified in Program Management, Level I-certified in Test and Evaluation and is an Army Acquisition Corps member. His military education and training includes: the Aviation Officer Basic and Advance Courses, the UH-60 Qualification course and the Army War College. His awards include the Meritorious Service Medal with three oak leaf clusters, and the Air Medal. He also earned the Army Aviator Badge, and the Air Assault Badge.